Overall, my favorite part of the Walk to Emmaus has to be Closing. You get to see the results of the Holy Spirit at work during the weekend through the efforts of the team, the community in showing agape love, and the commitment of the sponsors in doing their part. It is the crescendo at the end of the weekend that witnesses to what God did over the course of 72 hours.

As a pilgrim – that was not my favorite part – I was not comfortable talking in front of a crowd at that time.

Closing being my favorite isn't meant to take away from the other activities of the weekend – no doubt you may have a favorite part of the Walk to Emmaus that affected you deeply. It might have been a talk you heard, some agape you received or experienced, a burden you left, or a new found realization of the love God has for you.

I started helping out on an Emmaus weekend a few walks after I walked on FE-70 and one thing that struck me – just helping out as a weekend servant, mind you – was that God didn't just forgive my sins as I learned on the Saturday morning of my Walk to Emmaus – but he forgives a lot of sins. Mine and others – actually the sins of the whole world - John 1:29.

Since I am something of an Emmaus junkie, I can pull from lots of experiences that affected me or changed my understanding of God and His love.

So I want to encourage you to find God in all the things that you do – Emmaus-related or not. Be open to God using you in new ways and to give you new revelations on His love and His grace.

De Colores!

In Luke 11 Jesus is in the heart of his teaching. He had just given the disciples the prayer we call the Lord's Prayer. He then goes on to tell his listeners that their eye is a lamp. This lamp lights up their whole body. Jesus challenges his listeners that because of this light coming from them, they can live one of two ways.

It is God's desire that we live, as The Message version of the Bible puts it, "wide-eyed in wonder and belief. When was the last time that we took stock of our faith? Do the things of God that once brought joy and wonder to our faith still do just that? Does our faith make each day exciting and wanting us to declare that this is the day the Lord has made let us rejoice in it? Jesus tells us that if we live wide-eyed in wonder and belief, our body fills with light. Others see the love and light of God shining out through us. People see joy and hope within us.

Jesus also listed a second way that we can live in this passage. He often told the Pharisees that this is the way that they lived. We can also live "squinty-eyed in greed, distrust, and fear." If this is how we chose to live our life becomes a dank cellar. No one is blessed by who we are and who we say. This negativity wears off on others. People don't see God within us.

Jesus goes on to say that we are to keep our eyes open, our lamp burning, so that our lives stay well lit. I invite us as those who are on our 4th day forever to be, as Jesus tells us, well-lit people, making a difference in others around us.

DeColores,
Brad Phillips
